

I think that it's important for the FCC to ensure the requirement that media owners act for the good of the public--after all we own the airwaves, right? I've been upset about the their hijacking for some time now and the last thing I'd wish to see is a further concentration of ownership of television and newspapers in the hands of the very few. Especially after what happened in radio.

I urge you to act in the interest of the public and retain the current ownership rules on June 2.

Thank you,
Susan Wood
